

Parent Support Net

Mereworth Citizen of the Year, Josephine

Photo: AP/STEWART/REUTERS

Thrilled to be city's top citizen

Josephine (Josephine) has been named Mereworth Citizen of the Year for 2014 as a woman who has done so much for her community.

Ms Josephine began her volunteer work by being the first person to start the 'Parent Support Net' (PSN) in Mereworth. She has since been instrumental in setting up the PSN Support Net, which helps parents with their children's needs.

And as if that wasn't enough, she also supports Mereworth's various activities at the Mereworth Sports and Recreation Centre.

Ms Josephine was named the Mereworth Citizen of the Year at the award ceremony last week evening, but she said her most rewarding moment was when she was named.

"I just do what I do, it is not about anything else," Ms Josephine said.

It is about seeing families growing and children having fun and that they have fun.

"It is a great job and it is what I love doing."

Eight years ago, Ms Josephine got involved in PSN. She has an ongoing role for the PSN and works closely with the PSN staff. She said that she was all inspired to be part of the PSN and involved in the PSN. She and her husband, Robert, and two children, Daniel and Emma, were all invited to the award ceremony for Mereworth Citizen of the Year. The award was presented to Ms Josephine in April 2014.

Ms Josephine said she was surprised to be named the Mereworth Citizen of the Year and thanked the PSN staff and family.

Ms Josephine said she was proud to be named the Mereworth Citizen of the Year and thanked the PSN staff and family.

"I am very grateful about it as it has given me a great sense of pride," she said.